

Mario J. Gabelli

Chairman, GAMCO Investors, Inc.

Mario J. Gabelli is chairman of GAMCO Investors, Inc., a New York Stock Exchange listed company that is a widely recognized provider of investment advice to alternative investments, mutual funds, institutional and private wealth management. Gabelli founded the firm in 1977 as an institutional broker-dealer. It has since grown into the diversified financial services corporation it is today. Gabelli is also chairman of LICT Corporation, and a member of the Board of Overseers of Columbia University Graduate School of Business; the Board of Trustees of Boston College; the Board of Trustees of Roger Williams University; and a Trustee of the Winston Churchill Foundation of the United States; E.L. Wiegand Foundation in Reno; and a member of The Economic Club of New York. Gabelli is a frequent commentator on CNBC, CNN, Fox Business and Bloomberg News; is often referenced in the financial print media including Barrons, Institutional Investor, Business Week, Fortune, Forbes, Money and Changing Times; and was named Money Manager of the Year by Institutional Investor for 2011. Gabelli is a summa cum laude graduate of Fordham University and holds an MBA from Columbia University Graduate School of Business, and an Honorary Doctorate Degree from Roger Williams University in Rhode Island and Fordham University.