

2024 FEORE FAMILY LECTURE ON JESUIT STUDIES

The Feore Family Lecture Series seeks to bring the world's preeminent scholars in the field of Jesuit Studies to Boston College for engagement with the University and the general public.

The series also features the presentation of the George E. Ganss, S.J. Award, which recognizes a person's significant scholarly contributions to the field of Jesuit Studies.

This year's award is presented to Dr. Stefania Tutino.

Jesuit Studies in Context

Historical Questions, Historiographical Trends, and Personal Reflections

In this presentation, Dr. Tutino reflects on the necessity of engaging with the history of the Society of Jesus for understanding the early modern and modern world. By interweaving an account of her own personal trajectory within Jesuit studies with more general considerations on the state of the field, she seeks to make the case for the centrality of Jesuit studies to a wide array of historical and historiographical questions.
